

COVID-19: GOVERNANCE: REGULATORY IMPACT FOR INSURERS (UK)

01 April 2020 | UK
Legal Briefings

The COVID-19 pandemic is creating significant health, social and economic challenges world-wide, forcing governments and businesses to assess the impact on their people, operations and governance.

Our latest “at a glance guide” considers some of the announcements made to date by EIOPA, the PRA and the FCA. These cover a range of issues including actions that insurers should be taking to protect customers and employees, encouragement to firms to preserve capital and the extension of reporting deadlines.

Our COVID-19 crisis hub aims to help our clients navigate their way through the many legal and regulatory issues that COVID-19 creates for their businesses.

For regular insurance sector updates, please also subscribe to HSF Insurance Notes.

If you would like to discuss arrangements for support on any of the issues raised by COVID-19, please ask your regular Herbert Smith Freehills relationship contacts, or one of the following members of our insurance team.
