

GLOBAL POUND CONFERENCE SERIES 2016-17

Global

Shaping the future of dispute resolution and improving access to justice.

The Global Pound Conference (GPC) series presents a unique opportunity to engage all key stakeholders in a conversation about dispute resolution and how it should be used in commercial and civil conflicts in the 21st Century.

Launched in Singapore on 17-18 March 2016 with the finale event scheduled to be held in London on 6 July 2017, the series will play host to more than 5,000 people, at 40 cities, across 31 countries worldwide.

Stakeholders in dispute resolution including commercial parties, chambers of commerce, lawyers, CSR professionals, academics, judges, arbitrators, mediators, policy makers and government officials will provoke debate on existing tools and techniques. They will also stimulate new ideas and generate actionable data on what users of dispute resolution actually need and want, both locally and globally. This global data gathering will create an opportunity to identify trends and preferences in a way that has not been possible previously.

By attending a conference near you, you will hear from a diverse and eminent group of speakers who will set out the key emerging national and international themes for the future of dispute resolution, as well as what organisations are doing to avoid conflict and save money through innovative uses of the key dispute resolution processes. You will also have the opportunity to vote and add your voice in how policies are developed, and play your part in shaping the future of dispute resolution.

The series, led by the International Mediation Institute (IMI), is sponsored by Herbert Smith Freehills along with, the Singapore International Dispute Resolution Academy (SIDRA), PwC, JAMS, Shell, AkzoNobel; the Beijing Arbitration Commission (BAC), and the International Centre for Dispute Resolution (ICDR).
