

TREASURY COMMITTEE INQUIRY INTO SOLVENCY II - THE CASE FOR CHANGE

24 February 2017 | London
Legal Briefings

The House of Commons Treasury Committee ("TC") is looking at the case for changing, or even replacing, Solvency II in a post-Brexit world. Its inquiry provides firms and industry bodies with perhaps their best opportunity to influence the future content of UK insurance regulation. The possible endorsement by the TC of views expressed by industry is likely to be particularly persuasive in future deliberations by the PRA.

This "at a glance" guide looks at demands for reform put by industry to the TC and at the PRA's response to some of the questions being asked of it.

In previous "at a glance" briefings, we have considered the need for businesses to prepare for the UK's exit from the EU. Please see:

In addition to the briefings referred to above, the Herbert Smith Freehills Brexit hub contains a range of materials on the implications of Brexit for businesses.
