

WOMEN IN ENERGY

11 April 2018 | London
Legal Briefings

Following the Women in Energy session at International Petroleum Week, in this article, Nina Bowyer and Rachel Lidgate, partners at Herbert Smith Freehills, reflect on their experiences working in the energy sector and share their views on how greater gender equality can be achieved.

During the International Petroleum Week conference, the findings set out in "Untapped Reserves - promoting gender balance in oil and gas" - a unique and in-depth study which is the product of a collaboration between the World Petroleum Council and the Boston Consulting Group - were discussed and debated revealing some surprising and concerning results. When we initially discussed the subject, neither of us had formed the impression that as lawyers in the O&G sector, our progression to partnership had been hampered by any industry specific hurdles or indeed that our promotion as female lawyers in the energy sector was particularly novel.

Read the full article

IP Week

KEY CONTACTS

If you have any questions, or would like to know how this might affect your business, phone, or email these key contacts.

RACHEL LIDGATE
PARTNER, LONDON

+44 20 7466 2418
Rachel.Lidgate@hsf.com

NINA BOWYER
PARTNER, PARIS

+33 1 53 57 70 73
Nina.Bowyer@hsf.com

LEGAL NOTICE

The contents of this publication, current at the date of publication set out above, are for reference purposes only. They do not constitute legal advice and should not be relied upon as such. Specific legal advice about your specific circumstances should always be sought separately before taking any action based on this publication.

© Herbert Smith Freehills 2020

SUBSCRIBE TO STAY UP-TO-DATE WITH LATEST THINKING, BLOGS, EVENTS, AND MORE

Close

© HERBERT SMITH FREEHILLS LLP 2020