Herbert Smith Freehills' partner Amy Geddes has been named 2019 Best in Debt Capital Markets at the Euromoney Legal Media Group Europe Women in Business Law awards for her debt capital markets expertise.

The award recognises Europe's best, and most influential female lawyers, for each practice area. Amy's award comes in the ninth annual ceremony which identifies the individuals setting new standards in innovative ways of working and for leading the way in their field.

Gary Hommel, finance partner and regional head of practice at Herbert Smith Freehills, says: "Amy's award is testament to her depth of expertise and her relentless determination to support clients and colleagues. The Euromoney LMG Europe Women in Business Law awards celebrate those who set the standards others should follow and I am proud to have Amy as an important role model in our team."

Amy is head of the Herbert Smith Freehills' debt capital markets practice. She advises both issuers and underwriters on international debt and equity-linked capital markets transactions and has considerable experience advising a broad range of clients on complex and innovative debt capital markets transactions in multiple jurisdictions. Amy is recognised by both Legal 500 UK and Chambers UK as a Leading Individual.
