EXPERIENCE

Emily has acted on a range of commercial disputes, including litigation in the Supreme Courts of New South Wales, Western Australia and Victoria, and both the Federal Court and High Court of Australia. She has particular experience with class actions, acting for both class members and defendants. Emily has also advised clients on a range of regulatory compliance issues, including anti-money laundering and privacy law.

Emily's recent experience includes:

- defending a superannuation trustee in a beneficiary class action
- acting for an aged care provider in proceedings brought by the ACCC
- acting for class members in Australia's first toxic tort class action, and conducting investigations into a number of related disputes on behalf of a major litigation funder
- assisting an ASX listed company to comply with their anti-money laundering, whistleblowing, and modern slavery obligations
