EXPERIENCE

Holly is based in the commercial litigation team in the London office, having previously spent six months on secondment to the litigation team in Dubai. Holly has experience of working with clients on a broad range of disputes, including fraud, banking and contractual disputes.

Holly's clients include fund managers, banks and professional service companies.

Holly's experience includes:

- the wealth management business of a large investment bank in defending mis-selling claims relating to various film partnerships
- a leading UK-based commercial bank relating to small and medium enterprise derivatives litigation matters
- a European investment bank and financial services company on threatened fraud and breach of contract claims arising out of a Middle Eastern joint venture
- a leading European bank in relation to its investigation into a potentially fraudulent breach of loan agreements by a Middle Eastern borrower
