EXPERIENCE

Jacky specialises in complex cross-border dispute resolution. His practice focuses on investor-State arbitration, treaty protection and commercial arbitration in the Europe and Asia regions.

Jacky is experienced in energy, infrastructure and technology disputes. He has acted and advised both investors and states in bilateral investment treaty disputes and in enforcement proceedings. Jacky also acts for clients in a wide range of international arbitrations, including recent work conducted under the ICC, HKIAC, SCAI and CIETAC Rules.

Prior to joining Herbert Smith Freehills, Jacky worked in the disputes teams of other international law firms and with the Federal Court of Australia. He is a member of the Law Society of New South Wales, the DIS-40, ICDR Young & International and the ACICA 45.

Jacky's experience includes:

- representing a Central Asian state in enforcement proceedings against investors in various jurisdictions, of a multi-million award rendered under the Energy Charter Treaty
- representing a Central Asian state in ICSID proceedings against an investor in a mining dispute under a bilateral investment treaty
- advising a consortium of investors in an airport project on potential investment treaty and commercial arbitrations against a central European state
- representing a German company in ICC arbitration proceedings against a manufacturer in the healthcare industry
