EXPERIENCE

Our Real Estate Disputes team takes pride in our technical excellence and deep understanding of our clients and markets. Shanna optimises the team's performance and efficiency through knowledge development and management to deliver insight and diverse perspectives.

Drawing on her many years in private practice, part of Shanna's job is to help provide advice and support for colleagues in our real estate team, and across the firm, faced with complex legal queries relating to property.

In her role as a knowledge lawyer, Shanna also deals with arranging and delivering in-house and client training, writing articles for external publications, and producing legal know-how materials on key developments. Shanna ensures our clients are kept up to date with changes in the law which may impact their day-to-day business.

Shanna also takes the lead to respond to the government on key consultations in the property sector to offer our important perspective on the law and any proposed changes.
