LATEST EPISODE

Episode 2 - What investors need to know about India's booming M&A market

M&A activity in India in the first quarter of 2022 reached a four-year record high of US$30.3 billion dollars in activity.

Investment is being driven to India by geopolitical headwinds, and by the country's many policy developments in recent years. The innovation and scale of the market's micro economies also make it an increasingly attractive destination for private capital players focussed on Asia.

In our second episode of INside Asia M&A, we discuss the current state of India's M&A and private capital markets. Host and corporate partner specialising in private capital Jamie McLaren is joined by special guest Pratibha Jain, General Counsel and Head of Corporate Affairs at Everstone Capital, and London partner and cross-border M&A specialist Siddhartha Shukla.

Together they review: the hottest sectors in India right now; recent trends in transformation, valuation and exits; and consider the structuring and lending nuances needed for a successful transaction.

Episode 1 - Why ESG is vital for Asia M&A?

In our first episode of INside Asia M&A, host China corporate head Nanda Lau talks with Tokyo partner Joseph Fisher and Johannesburg ESG and natural resources law specialist Ernst Müller why ESG has become so important to dealmaking in Asia Pacific and how ESG issues are affecting M&A in the region this year.

Joe and Ernst share examples of ESG considerations changing the nature of M&A transactions and talk more broadly about the progress of ESG in Asia.

Lastly, we take a look at what lies ahead for ESG in the remainder of 2022 and beyond in Asia Pacific. Our global M&A Outlook 2022 report mentioned in this episode can be accessed below.
